

Preparing for the 2025 School Year

As the school term approaches, educational leaders are diligently planning, motivating, and creating the optimal conditions for what promises to be a fantastic 2025 school year. This period is crucial for setting a strong foundation that will support students, teachers, and staff throughout the year.

WAESPPA Conference 2025

An exciting opportunity is on the horizon with the upcoming WAESPPA (Western Australian Education Support Principals and Administrators) conference, which will be held in September this year. This gathering serves as a pivotal platform for educators and administrators to share insights, strategies, and innovations that can transform the educational landscape.

Theme: Innovate, Inspire, Include

The theme for this year's conference is Innovate, Inspire, Include. This theme underscores the importance of embracing new ideas, motivating others, and ensuring that all voices are heard and valued within the educational community. These guiding principles are essential for fostering an environment where every student and educator can thrive.

Call for Abstracts

Now is the perfect time to consider the opportunity to present at the conference. We will soon be accepting abstracts, and this is a chance for educators and administrators to share their knowledge and experiences with peers. Presenting at the conference not only contributes to professional growth but also enriches the collective knowledge of the educational community.

How to Submit

1. Prepare Your Abstract: Clearly outline the main idea and objectives of your presentation.
2. Align with the Theme: Ensure your abstract reflects the theme of Innovate, Inspire, Include.
3. Submit Early: Watch for announcements on submission dates and ensure your abstract is submitted promptly.

By participating in the WAESPPA conference, educational leaders can contribute to a shared vision of excellence and inclusivity in education. Let's come together to innovate, inspire, and include as we prepare for a remarkable 2025 school year.
